JUST A FEW OF THESE "PASSING SHOW OF 1915" LITTLE BEAUTIES

Ladies and Nobles:

YOU never had a better opportunity for a wonderful and memorable night at the theater. Such popular entertainers — you have seen them all before: George Monroe, as fat and funny as ever; Eugene and Willie Howard, with their wonderful travesties and imitations; dainty Marilyn Miller, with her elfish, dancing inimitable impersonations; Daphne Pollard, John T. Murray, Clarence Harvey, Ernest Hare, Sam Hearne, Edmund Goulding, Dixie Gerard, Helen Eley, Margaret Warde, and Alexis Kosloff and his internationally famous Imperial Russian Ballet, — all these and a lot more will be ready to take Nobles and their friends by the hand and lead them through a maze of yards and yards of girls, each seemingly more divinely fair than her sisters, through oceans of smiles, through miles of wondrous scenes, depicting magnificently a bewildering variety of places, and all the time you are the happy inhabitant of a world of melody.

The directors of the justly famous New York Winter Garden assure us that this is the mightiest, girliest, and most gorgeous of all the Winter Garden mastodon spectacles. In its huge company of one hundred and twenty-five will be found practically an all star cast entirely surrounded by one of the most Nobles: We are at the beginning of another year. The last one was very successful and this one should be equally so. ¶ We made four hundred and sixty members last year, and Aleppo Temple is now the second in size in the jurisdiction of the Imperial Council. ¶ This year we want five hundred new members. If every tenth member proposes a candidate we will succeed. ¶ Send in the signed application of an eligible and we will have a meeting as soon as we are sure of a class of seventy-five. ¶ Dues for 1916 are due. Send $5 to B.W. Rowell, Recorder, for the 1916 card that admits you to the one hundred and thirty-nine Temples, and is an introduction to 225,000 good fellows just like yourself. ¶ Hope to see you at the Theater Party.

Yours in the Faith,

bewitching bebies of stage beauties ever coralled in one chorus.

There are two acts and twelve stupendous scenes of regal splendor to lend enchantment to the production. Some of them are so wonderfully realistic that the audience involuntarily gasps in amazement. Particularly is this so when the destruction of a great city by a monster Zeppelin is depicted. Here realism running riot thrills the audience as no stage picture in the history of the theater has ever done before.

And Dame Fashion plays no unimportant part in the success of this latest spectacle, and the hundreds of gowns displayed during the course of the entertainment cause many a gurgling gasp of delight from the feminine portion of the audience.

YES, there will be the usual runway through the audience over which the famous Winter Garden beauty chorus will do a lot of new stunts.
